WHOLE MORNING IN ARGUMENT

Court Reverses Decision of Wednesday and Orders Mrs. Sharrah's Testimony Stricken from Record.

Testimony of Mrs. Oliver Sharrah, given at Wednesday afternoon's session of Court, before which is the trial of her husband for the murder of Peter I. Deardorff, was ordered stricken from the records and Mrs. Sharrah will not be allowed to testify as the Commonwealth's witness. This decision by the Court reversing that given Wednesday was made at the opening of this afternoon's session.

The withdrawal of the witness from the stand came as a result of the session in Chambers this morning. After this announcement further testimony of witnesses was resumed.

No witnesses were heard at the morning session, of Court, the entire period being spent by Court and counsel in Chambers. Briefs were presented in the question of the competency of Mrs. Oliver Sharrah, wife of the accused, as a witness for the Commonwealth. Arguments were presented by counsel for both sides and at noon it was announced that adjournment would be taken.

The Court room was filled when the session convened at nine o'clock, the fact that Mrs. Sharrah would resume her testimony evidently adding to the interest attached to the trial. After two hours of waiting in the hope that the session in Chambers would come to an end, the audience became restless and at the time of adjournment not more than fifty people were scattered about the room. Judge McPherson did not announce the result of the Chambers session, but expressed regret that it was necessary to keep the jury waiting the entire morning period. However, he continued, a point of law needed to be discussed and was responsible for the delay.

The witnesses called on Wednesday afternoon, after David Shepard had finished testifying were: Edward Naugle, Peter Deardorff, father of the murdered man, Calvin Moritz and Mrs. Oliver Sharrah.

Naugle had assisted to bring the body of Deardorff to his father's house on the day after the murder and he identified the clothes worn at that time by the dead man. Mr. Deardorff also assisted in moving his son's body, and he confirmed Naugle's identification of the blood stained clothing. The testimony of Moritz, who also helped move the body was practically the same as that of Naugle and Deardorff.

At this point the Commonwealth rested its case and the defense made the motion that Mrs. Sharrah, the wife of the accused man, be called as one of the prosecution's witnesses because she was an eye witness of the crime. Defense agreed to waive the right of immunity she would enjoy as wife of the defendant. An argument of counsel here ensued and Mrs. Sharrah was finally called.

She told the following story of the affair: She and her husband were in bed on the night of the shooting when they heard a noise and came down stairs together. As they reached the bottom of the steps Deardorff had opened the stair door and asked where her husband was and stating that he was looking for her. Sharrah told Deardorff to go away and Deardorff, threatening Sharrah, advanced toward them. Her husband had grabbed a gun and placed a shell in the weapon in the meanwhile, Mrs. Sharrah observed this and tried to wrest the gun from him. In her effort to secure the weapon she was facing Sharrah and he shot over her shoulder.

Deardorff then stepped back into the kitchen and laid down. Sharrah went back to bed, taking the gun with him. Deardorff arose from the floor and walked outside of the house. Mrs. Sharrah saw he was badly wounded and went for the assistance of neighbors. At the end of the day Mrs. Sharrah was still on the stand.

TOBACCO DEALERS MUST PAY TAX

Emergency Tax Law Passed in 1914 is Still in Effect. Unless Taxes are Paid Penalty will be Added.

Many persons subject to special taxes, such as proprietors of theatres, pool rooms, cigar and tobacco manufacturers, and especially dealers in tobacco, apparently do not realize that if they do not pay by January 31 the tax for the six months ending June 30, 1916, they are subject to a penalty of 50 per cent under the internal revenue laws. This fact was emphasized Tuesday by Joseph S. Felix, Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue, in the Post Office Building.

The taxes were first imposed by the Emergency Tax law which was passed in 1914. The first law provided it should expire on December 31, 1915. Owing to the continuation of the war in Europe, however, Congress continued it for another year. All annual special taxes under the internal revenue are payable on the year beginning July 1.

The tax now to be paid, therefore, is a half year's tax for the six months ending June 30. Every cigar store and other seller of tobacco who sells $200 worth yearly must in January, 1916, pay a tax of $2.40 or he will incur the penalty. The same applies to every special taxpayer under the Emergency Tax law.

LAFEAN BRINGS SUIT

He and Son Sue Caramel Company for $96,000.

Hon. D. F. Lafean and his son, Stuart B. Lafean, have filed a suit in equity against the American Caramel company, to recover the sum of about $96,000 in wages and damages by reason of alleged breach of contract, and the case will soon come up in the York Common Pleas court. Niles & Neff are attorneys for Messrs. Lafean.

Hon. D. F. Lafean was president and Stuart B. Lafean was secretary of the American Caramel company until at an annual election more than a year ago, they were voted out of office, but they claim to have a contract which, being violated by the company, it is contended, caused the suit to be brought.

ADJOINING COUNTY TO FIGHT BOOZE

Remonstrances Filed against one third of License Applications in Cumberland County. Boiling Springs among them.

Fully one third of the applications for license, in Cumberland county, will be contested at the session of county license court, next Monday, according to the number of remonstrances entered in the office of the clerk of the courts. Wednesday was the final day for filing the papers and beginning in the morning, petitions bearing scores of names protesting against the licensing of a number of hotels were brought in.

Hotels and wholesale places in Carlisle, Newville, Boiling Springs, and Wormleysburg, are targets for the no-license forces, reasons of "no necessity" and specific allegations of harm done by the licensing of places being the main features embodied in the petitions.

Newville turned out petitions including several hundred names against both of the applications for license in that town, men and women joining in the protests.

Many South Middleton residents are against the hotel at Boiling Springs as a remonstrance presented by J. P. McKeehan shows. They claim that because of the nearness of the town to Carlisle and Mechanicsburg and the good trolley service that the hotel is not necessary for the accommodation of the public and the entertainment of strangers and travellers. Further that the hotel is located near an amusement park frequented by young people of both sexes and exercises a detrimental influence. In all, 64 men and 39 women sign the remonstrance.

LUTHERANS MEET AT PHILADELPHIA

Dr. Singmaster Takes Prominent Part in Conference for Purpose of Determining Basis for Sunday School Pamphlets.

Representatives of more than 1,000, 000 Lutherans, using the English language and covering the United States and Canada, met at the Lutheran headquarters, Arch street, near 15th, Philadelphia, this week, and agreed upon a basis for common graded Sunday School pamphlets for their church.

The committee was composed of a number of the most influential men of the Church, presidents of synods, heads of educational institutions, editors, pastors, business men and the managers of several of the larger publication houses Doctor Knobel, of New York, was chairman, and Rev. H. A. McCullough, of Columbia, S. C., served as secretary.

The new system is to take as a starting point, from which to develop the perfect Lutheran system, the graded system of the General Council, begun 20 years ago and edited by Rev. Dr. T. E. Schmauk, Dr. J. H. Singmaster, president of the General Synod, and Dr. D. F. Bauslin, dean of the Hanna Divinity School, of Springfield, Ohio, took a prominent part in the discussion.

This is one of a number of movements looking toward closer union in the Lutheran church, which is making preparations for a general celebration of the 400th anniversary of the beginning of the Reformation.

TO TAKE ACTION ON WHITE PINE RUST

Public Hearing will be Held on Proposed Quarantine of White Pine in Pennsylvania and other Eastern States.

In order to protect the white pine forests of the country from the disease known as the white pine blister rust, it is proposed to place a Federal quarantine on shipments of 5-leaved pines and cultivated black currants from Pennsylvania and several other Eastern States. A public hearing on this question will be held by the Federal Horticultural Board at the Department of Agriculture, Washington, on February 4. The States which it is proposed to quarantine on this account the Pennsylvania, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New York.

The white pine blister rust, like citrus blight and blight, is an imported disease which was introduced into this country on nursery stock before the passage of the Federal Plant Quarantine Law. Ninety per cent of the infections now in America came from a single German nursery. The disease, it is said, can be controlled in the Eastern States, where it now exists, but if it finds its way into the Western forests there is no likelihood that its spread can be successfully checked. At the present time these forests are free from blister rust and it can only be introduced into them through nursery stock of 5-leaved pine or currants. A quarantine against the relatively limited traffic in this stock is, therefore, believed to be a necessary precaution.

As an additional safeguard, it also is proposed to prohibit the entry of 5-leaved pine nursery stock from Canada and of nursery stock of currants and gooseberries from Canada, Europe and Asia. These questions will be considered at the same hearing as the proposed domestic quarantine.

The importance of protecting the white pine forests from the blister rust may be inferred from the fact that in Pennsylvania, New England, and New York alone there are still 15 billion feet of mature white pine valued at not less than $75,000,000.

In addition to its effect upon standing timber, the spread of the disease would seriously interfere with the planting of trees. At the present time the white pines are among the principal varieties planted, not only by private owners, but also by cities, states, and the National government. If blister rust is allowed to become prevalent, much land more suitable for forestry than for agriculture and which could otherwise bear splendid forests of white pine will have to remain waste or be devoted to some inferior tree. It is estimated that in Pennsylvania, New England, and New York, there are not less than 10 millions acres to which this is applicable and that in the Lake States there are another 10 million.

The proposed quarantine will not only be an additional protection to the great Western forests, which are naturally isolated from the East by treeless plains, but it will protect as well those portions of the Eastern States which now lie outside of the infected area. Maine, the Lake States, and the Southern States have never become infected and need never be if the disease is controlled in the territory in which it now exists.

MR. WILSON'S SHIP BILL MADE KNOWN

U. S. to Buy or Build Vessels and Lease Them.

OPPOSITION IS GROWING

Dissatisfaction is Manifest Over Clause Allowing Government Operation if Leases Cannot be Made.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Although it was said that administration leaders believe the prospects for passage of a government ship purchase bill are bright, opposition senators, although expressing satisfaction over some features of the new bill, are still inclined to oppose anything that might make government operation of ships probable.

As now proposed, the bill would provide for government operation in case satisfactory leases to private corporations could not be made.

Administration men said they saw in conference President Wilson had with Democrats who opposed such a measure last year indications that the revised proposal eventually would be successful.

The bill that now has the administration backing provides that the government shall purchase or build ships and then lease or sell them to corporations or private individuals. In case no one offers to lease or buy the ships, the bill allows the government to operate them.

The government could buy back the ships at a reasonable price for naval auxiliaries in time of war. A bond issue of $50,000,000 for the purchase or construction of ships would be provided by the bill, which also includes a shipping board to control shipping rates.

The president continued to urge leading members of congress to hasten action on important legislation. He discussed the ship bill particularly with Congressman Kitchin, majority leader of the house, and Senator Clarke, of Arkansas. Later, Kitchin said the bill, if presented as outlined to him, would receive his support.

It is probable the ship purchase bill will be disposed of in the house before the preparatory measures are introduced there. It is understood the president's intention is to have all the differing factions of his party satisfied with a compromise measure before it is introduced.

The president made it clear in his conferences that he hoped to see the following matters pushed ahead of everything:

National defense measures, including army reorganization and increased naval construction.

Creation of a merchant marine designed to serve as a naval auxiliary in time of war.

Revenue legislation, including revision of the income tax law and creation of a non-partisan tariff board.

The Philippine self-government bill, which will include a provision granting independence within two to four years, provided satisfactory steps are taken in the meantime to establish a stable independent government.

Conservation bills for development of water power and mineral bearing lands.

The announcement came from Vice President Klingensmith. The vast improvements means an expenditure of from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 and, according to Klingensmith, the company will employ 100,000 men within five years.

At present there are over 20,000 men employed at the Detroit plant and the aim of the company is to produce 500,000 cars this year.

BISHOP TELLS DEAN HE MUST GET OUT

Easton, Md., Church Folk Astounded by Action.

Easton, Md., Jan. 27.—Like a bolt from the blue has come the news that Bishop William Forbes Adams, of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Easton, has written to Rev. H. B. Bryan, for the past two years dean of the Protestant Episcopal Trinity cathedral here, informing him that his services will no longer be required at the cathedral after January 31.

Dean Bryan who formerly was arch-deacon of Panama and who later was stationed in East Downingtown, Pa., now is in Utah. The bishop's letter of notification is dated January 7, and has been sent to Dean Bryan in Utah where he is on a preaching mission on a leave of absence granted by the bishop.

According to Murray Lloyd Goldsborough, who is counsel for the minister, Bishop Adams has admitted to him that while the trustees of the cathedral, at a meeting on May 22, 1915, adopted a resolution that the bishop request the resignation of Dean Bryan, no charges have been made, or at least he did not know of them and that he never had asked the trustees what the trouble was.

"The bishop," said Mr. Goldsborough, "added that he had taken summary action for Dean Bryan's sake, as he thought that no man of sensibility and of honor would care to stay if the trustees didn't want him."

SAVES WOMAN WITH SPOON

Doctor Performs Operation Under Great Difficulties.

Elkins, W. V., Jan. 27.—With twin teaspoons, a pocketknife and a piece of rubber tubing as his instruments, Dr. H. W. Daniel, of the Elkins hospital, performed an operation on a woman apparently dying of diphtheria and saved her life. It was learned.

Called to the mountain home of Mrs. Thurman Coberly, the doctor found the woman unconscious. Having no surgical instruments with him and realizing that death was near, he made an incision in the woman's windpipe with his knife, and using the teaspoons bent double as retractors, he inserted the rubber tube. Respiration was restored and within a few hours the patient regained consciousness, and it is said that her recovery is expected.

BRITISH CABINET FIGHTS BLOCKADE

Official Speeches Are Against New Measure.

EYES OF NEUTRALS ON THEM

Impression Given in Parliament That Government Will Resist Demand for Extreme Pressure on Germany.

London, Jan. 27.—The eyes of the neutral world, especially those nations with big shipping interests, were turned on parliament, when debate was opened in the house of commons upon the question of declaring an absolute blockade of Germany.

The opening phrase of the speech of Sir Edward Grey, foreign secretary in the house, and of the Marquis of Lansdowne, minister without portfolio, in the house of lords, gave the impression that the government is not likely to resort to such a blockade.

Arthur Shirley Benn, Unionist member for Plymouth, on introducing the motion for an effective blockade, urged the government in conjunction with the entente allies to declare that the entire overoceanic traffic with Germany shall be prevented by a blockade. He said he did not think America would object, as the blockade would be on the same principle as the blockade declared by Lincoln.

The motion was:

"That this house, having noted the volume of imports into neutral countries bordering on enemy territory of goods essential to the enemy for the prosecution of the war, urges the government to enforce as effective a blockade as possible without interfering with the normal requirements of those neutral countries for internal consumption."

Strong influence has been brought to bear by the menacing stand taken by Sweden. Open threats have been made by Swedish statesmen that an embargo on contraband merchandise consigned to Swedish ports might result in that country adopting retaliatory measures.

Great crowds flocked into the galleries to hear the government's declaration on the question.

In anticipation of the debate, the government issued a four-column statement challenging and refuting statistics recently published concerning what those newspapers have declared the hugely increased imports into the neutral countries of Holland and Scandinavia since the beginning of the war.

The statement is confined to minute and detailed figures, covering all the ground dealt with by the Daily Mail and the Morning Post to show numerous cases in which errors have crept into the figures, or certain circumstances ignored, all of which tend to the great inflation of the figures as given by these journals.

Beyond this no attempt has been made to draw any conclusions from the figures. Neither is there a hint of any change in the government's policy. In fact, despite very decided expressions of opinion heard on many sides that the government may decide to declare an actual blockade, nothing official is known, and it is regarded as still possible that the government may only determine to tighten the existing system of controlling cargoes likely to reach countries at war with the entente powers.

MR. WILSON ADAMANT IN LUSITANIA DEMAND

Berlin Must Disavow Sinking of Liner as Illegal Act.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Germany must specifically characterize the sinking of the Lusitania as an illegal act.

Until she does so, there can be no final settlement of the dispute growing out of the torpedoing of the steam ship which in more than 100 American lives lost their lives.

This is the "last word" of President Wilson, which was conveyed personally to Ambassador von Bernstorff by Secretary of State Lansing. Mr. Lansing explained that the president considered the general character of the Lusitania proposals contained in the latest informal communication from the Berlin foreign office satisfactory but he declined to permit the question of responsibility to be passed over as Berlin suggested.

Germany has failed to accept responsibility for violating international law, and, while agreeing to pay indemnity for the American lives, indicated that it would do so more as an "act of grace" than as a justified legal obligation.

Secretary Lansing and Count von Bernstorff agreed on the general form of settlement which will be acceptable to the United States.

Berlin, Jan. 27.—Telegraphing from Budapest, the correspondent of the Tageblatt says that according to a Sofia despatch two letters and one telegram signed by the Russian emperor were found among the archives of the Serbian Crown Prince Alexander which were recently seized by the Bulgarians.

All the documents were dated just before the outbreak of the war. The first letter advised the crown prince under no circumstances to yield to the demand of Austria-Hungary for the dissolution of the Norinich Rana, a Serbian political society.

In the telegram Emperor Nicholas is said to have instructed the Serbians to reject the Austro-Hungarian ultimatum because Russia was ready to support Serbia with the force of arms.

MINERS VOTE TO STAY AT WORK

Not to Suspend Pending New Agreement.

UPHOLD WHITE'S POLICY

Convention by Overwhelming Majority Declares for Leader's Non-Suspension Plan.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 27.—The United Mine Workers of America in convention decided not to suspend work after the contracts have expired, so long as negotiations for new agreements are pending.

A rising vote, taken after a long debate, showed that 109 of the 129 delegates favored the proposition of non-suspension, recommended by President John P. White.

Indian discussion was resumed on the non-suspension policy. David Fowler, of Scranton, Pa., urged the convention to endorse the attitude of President White. He said he believed the anthracite operators are willing to make a new agreement, and that the workers will get a fair settlement. He also believed that most of the hard coal workers favored remaining at work.

Harry Hunter, Eldorado, Ill.; William Noble, Bicknell, Ind.; Herbert Hall, Westville, Ill.; and Charles Rosko, Bend, Ill., opposed the policy.

Edward Perry, Colfax, Iowa, former national secretary-treasurer; C. H. Sexton, Denning, Ark.; Lee Hall, Columbus, Ohio; Charles Dillen, Tower Hill, Ill.; H. Greenway, Jacksonville, Ind.; David Watkins, Buffalo, Ohio; and James Purcell, Philadelphia, president of the Central Pennsylvania Soft Coal Miners, supported the non-suspension and his attitude was endorsed by the committee on officers' reports. Those who favored non-suspension urged that it was to the best interests of the workers to continue working as long as there was a chance to get new agreements which expire on March 31.

Most of the opposition to the policy came from Indiana and Illinois, although President Frank J. Harney of the Illinois miners, and International Vice President Frank J. Hayes of Illinois, supported President White. The anthracite miners were almost unanimous for the non-suspension policy.

JAPAN MENACES CHINA

Mikado Demands Vital Powers Be Given Up.

London, Jan. 27.—The Japanese government has delivered to the Chinese minister in Tokyo, for transmission to his government, a note embodying seven demands which were included in the Japanese program of last spring. The Manchester Guardian learns from far eastern sources.

The Guardian expresses the hope this news will be "authoritatively contradicted," as the demands, when previously presented, were full of danger to China's independence and their general effect would have been to place China under the tutelage of Japan. "It is the aim and hope of British policy," the newspaper continues, "to see China strong and independent, developing peacefully, without interference from any foreign power."

"It is a duty we owe to ourselves and to China," says the Guardian, finally, "to help her in that direction and we have enormous material interests, too, which reinforce what is for us the only right and just policy."

FREE PHILIPPINES IN 4 YEARS, MAYBE

Puts It Up to President to Make Sure All is Well.

Washington, Jan. 27.—An amendment to the Philippine bill, said to be acceptable to President Wilson, was submitted by Mr. Hitchcock, Nebraska, chairman of the Philippine committee.

It would provide that not more than four years, nor less than two years after the meeting of the new Filipino legislature to be created by the pending bill, the president should withdraw the sovereignty of the United States and proclaim the independence of the Filipino people, provided he should find that proper steps had been taken to secure by peaceful means an independent Philippine government, "Republican in form, stable in character, and prepared to enter into such binding agreements with the United States as the president may deem necessary for the protection of recognized rights and interests of Americans and other nationals in the islands."

The president would be empowered to reserve naval bases, coaling stations and other property required by the United States for military purposes.

The amendment would further provide that, if at any time before the expiration of four years, the president should find proper steps had not been taken to establish an independent government, "or if he should find it expedient for reasons affecting the welfare of the Philippines themselves, or the international relations of the United States," or, if he should be unable to negotiate agreements for protection of American property, the president would be authorized to delay recognition of Philippine independence until the American congress could consider the case.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR HOUSEWIVES

Crumb Brush For Sweeping Dining Table.

A new device for crumbing the dining table works on the principle of a perforated brush, which rolls over the surface and gathers up the particles by means of a revolving brush, the so-called accumulations being deposited in compartments which are located before and behind the brush.

The new device is quite small and inconspicuous, and after the principal courses of the meal have been served the maid propels the new crumb roller over such portions of the table where there may be crumbs, and a few passes of the new crumb roller leave the surface of the linen entirely clear of all particles.

Mexican Frijoles.

Soak three-quarters of a pint of Mexican brown beans or black or kidney beans overnight in a quart of cold water. In the morning drain, add fresh cold water to cover, with a quarter of a teaspoonful of soda, and bring to the boiling point. Add two tablespoonfuls of drippings, oil or butter, a cupful or more of tomatoes and four or five sweet peppers. Meantime fry three large onions in two tablespoonfuls of oil or butter till yellow, then mix with the other ingredients and stew or bake till tender. Serve with chili sauce.—Country Gentleman.

Baked Onions.

Wash well, but do not peel, put into dish with slightly salted water, boil an hour, replacing the water with more, boiling hot, as it evaporates. Pour off the water and lay the onions on a cloth to dry them well. Roll each onion in a piece of buttered or waxed paper, twisting it at the top to hold it in place, and bake in a slow oven for one hour, or until tender. Then peel the onions, place in a deep baking dish and brown for about fifteen minutes, basting well with butter. Take from oven, season with pepper and salt and pour melted butter over them.

Delmonico Creamed Potatoes.

Sauté one-half pint of light cream, add one-half tablespoonful of flour diluted with cold water to pour, and cook five minutes. Then add two cupfuls of potatoes, cut as for French fried potatoes, and parboiled in boiling salted water six minutes or until nearly soft. Cook the potatoes in the sauce fifteen minutes; then add one-third cupful of cream cheese grated. Season with salt and paprika.

Lyonnaise Potatoes.

The simplest form of Lyonnaise potatoes is made with those already cooked, says the Country Gentleman. Slice about four cold boiled ones. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a frying pan; add two tablespoonfuls of minced onions; season with pepper and salt. Fry slowly ten minutes; then add the potatoes, still frying slowly and once in awhile turning with a knife till a golden brown. Season again, and when ready to serve add a tablespoonful of minced parsley.

Pork and Turnips.

Take a piece of fresh pork and cook it on the back of the stove, where it will not boil violently. Peel and cut the turnips in halves. Scald the turnips in boiling water and drain. Put into the kettle and cook slowly for several hours. When done there should be about a pint of liquid, and this can be thickened with flour and served over the turnips. Do not have too much water on them at any time, but rather steam the whole.

Mr. Barnackel

By EDITH V. ROSS

"Enoch Barnackel! What a name! Any one would know that he was a crusty old man of the farmer type, uneducated and with no manners. But what can I do?"

These words were spoken to herself by a girl who had some sixteen years before been left at a foundlings' home and who had been given the name of Helen and had later chosen the additional name of Whitman. She had been retained at the home as an employee till she approached seventeen, then was informed that a farmer named Barnackel had written that he wanted a wife and asked whether one could be sent to him. Helen was informed of the opportunity.

After a long and painful deliberation, feeling incompetent to go out into the world and make a living, she decided to go out to Mr. Barnackel. If he was very terrible she might commit suicide. The matron approved of her resolution, for she was comely, and the good woman feared that with her inexperience she might fall a victim to some designing person.

Mr. Barnackel was informed that there was a young woman ready to accept his proposition, and he sent money for her journey. The heart-broken girl nerved herself to her fate and one afternoon alighted at a railway station at the village near which his farm was located. A young farmer with a whip in his hand approached her and asked if she was the young woman who was to marry Mr. Barnackel.

"I am," was the reply. "That is, if he isn't an ogre."

The young man smiled. His smile was very winning. "I have a team here," he said. "I'll drive you to the farm."

When seated in the wagon and he had said "get up" to the horses Helen expected that he would say something to her. He did not. He seemed to be thinking.

"What kind of a looking man is Mr. Barnackel?" she asked.

Now, the young man was George Barnackel, nephew of the man who had written for a wife. The uncle was fifty years old, his face looked like a ball of strings, his hair was red, and he was just too unlovely for any thing. At any rate, that is the way the daughter of one of the neighboring farmers put it. In fact, he was exactly what Helen had conceived him to be, judging from his name. He must also have been a fool or he would never have sent his good looking nephew for a young girl he expected to make his wife. Upon Helen's inquiry George turned his face toward her, displaying a set of regular white teeth by smiling, and asked:

"Suppose I should tell you that he is a disagreeable old codger and always cross as a bear. What would you do?"

"I would jump into the river--that is, if there is one near by."

There was a prolonged silence, at the end of which the young man said: "And what would you say if I told you that I am Mr. Barnackel?"

Helen's heart went up into her throat. She made no reply to the question, but she sidled nearer to her companion. Presently there came a subdued voice:

"Are you Mr. Barnackel?"

"I am."

Her face was bent low. He leaned lower himself and looked up into it. He saw what he took to be a look of pleasure. Perhaps it was relief. The reins were in his right hand. She was sitting at his left. He put his left arm about her waist. She looked up at him, her eyes wet, a suspicion of a smile on her lips. He kissed them.

"How far is it to the farm?" was the next thing said.

"About three miles."

George drove over six miles, which seemed like three to Helen, then stopped at a farmhouse.

"Wait in the wagon," he said, "while I go in to tell my mother and sister you're here. They don't know you're coming."

Leaving the reins in her hands, he went into the house. He was gone a long while. Helen saw the face of an elderly woman surveying her from a window, then a younger one doing the same.

"Oh, dear," she said, "I hope they're not going to make him send me back!" Presently a door opened and the two women came out, the elder in advance. She welcomed Helen, though she seemed constrained. Leading her into the house, the younger woman showed her to a chamber upstairs and, shutting the door behind them, took her in her arms, exclaiming:

"You poor child!"

"Why am I to be so pitied?" asked Helen, surprised.

"You're not. It's all right. We'll make you very happy. My brother is not the Mr. Barnackel you came out here to marry. That one is my uncle, a crusty old man who would not do for you at all. Being rheumatic, he asked George to drive you from the station to his farm. George wants you himself. Mother has given her consent, and you are to be married--that is, if you wish to marry George--at once."

Helen asked if haste were necessary. George replied to this that his bride belonged to his uncle, was expected by his uncle and unless the knot were tied there was no knowing what he would do in the matter. The chance of being turned over to the old curmudgeon so terrified Helen that she was only too glad to be married at once. The wedding took place that evening.

Optimistic Thought.
 The study of human nature on a large scale is a safe employment.
